FOREWORD

by Hank Kunneman

It is my honor to write this Foreword for my wife, Brenda, regarding Daily Decrees for Government and Nations. I have watched her dedication to praying, researching, and writing her many decree books under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, especially this one. We are in a very important time not only in this nation, the United States, but all over the world as the Lord is awakening the nations to Him and pouring His glory upon all flesh. The unseen forces of darkness are aware of what has been promised in Scripture about the days that we live in, and through numerous avenues they are continuing to try and stop what God is doing. Many of those demonic assignments are clearly being seen in our government, media, education, curricula, attacks on our freedoms, elections that lack voter integrity, lies, deception, and evildoers rising to afflict hardships on the innocent. This is why we must be watchmen who don't just watch but do as Jesus instructed to both watch and pray. In these decrees, Brenda has given us a keen way to accomplish this by addressing many things we need to be aware of, and she powerfully equips us specifically on how to target our prayers more effectively.

As Joshua had a sword in his mouth to deliver a nation and people in the days of Israel, we have been handed a powerful tool to put in our hands and decree in our mouths to set the nations free. Brenda has an in-depth understanding that, when spoken, the power of the decree is as an arrow that becomes the arrow of deliverance with a release of the power of God upon the things being decreed. That power becomes manifested in the anointing of preservation. It preserves our freedoms, the people, governments, leaders, judges, society, education, entertainment, and the children from deception and the onslaught of the forces of darkness.

For years, Brenda has been writing decrees for our church to declare together, as well as for individuals to take and declare over their lives. As a church body, we have seen those things decreed come to pass, and as a ministry we have received powerful testimonies from those who have decreed and received God's hand moving in families, schools, children, finances, jobs, etc. When we decree with others in agreement with God and the powerful words in this book, the unified change it makes better the lives of so many as well as the nations of this earth.

Brenda did not write this just to be a written book of decrees for governments and nations, but the very heart of God handed to us to be His extension in these perilous times that are filled with evil and those who cooperate with it. She has handed us a wakeup call for all who want to see God work a work in our day, as prophesied by the prophet Habakkuk—a work that is so good we won't even believe it. I encourage you to be the salt that preserves and heals the nations that have been wounded as the result of the lack of true justice and righteousness in our lands. I further exhort you to be the light, as Jesus mentioned, that doesn't just shine in the four walls of the church but shines into the darkness of the things happening in this hour. The decrees in this book will help you do just that; you will arise and shine causing God's light of truth to come and expose the darkness while establishing His righteousness upon the earth.

Always be reminded that throughout Scripture, God did not avoid the subject of His Kingdom being involved in governments, leaders, society, education, children, and all other areas of the world influenced by evil. The pages in the Bible are filled with prophets, judges, and others who rise to the task of being used to affect change. We have examples of Noah, Abraham, Joseph, Moses, Daniel, the three Hebrew boys, Deborah,

Esther, and of course the many prophets who prophesied and decreed to affect change and be used as God's instruments to establish His Kingdom and the standard of what is right in the earth. We must also be reminded of those who came before us in the New Testament whose blood still speaks as a result of letting their lives make a difference by speaking up and acting boldly in the day they lived. In the same way, Brenda has given us decrees we can speak up and out with a boldness that will bring a rest to the nations and a change that will be celebrated throughout generations. We can carry the same pioneering spirit of Jesus, who was compared to John the Baptist and Elijah—nonconformists who spoke up and out to bring God's Kingdom standard to their nation and the people.

Lastly, we will be mentioned on the day we stand before our great God with others like Paul, Peter, and many in the early church and throughout modern history who stood up and spoke the Word of God in the face of those who led in governments and the very societies where they lived. It is my prayer that God will use these decrees through you to do the same. Decree a thing and it will be established (see Job 22:28). I encourage you to take these decrees and be that vessel of change who is forever remembered and honored by God Himself.

INTRODUCTION

Put simply, Daily Decrees for Government and Nations is meant to be a counterforce and a tool for God's Word to continue going forth in our nation freely and without censorship. It's a piece of equipment in the believer's prayer arsenal enabling them to pray prophetically and declare truth into the atmosphere. It is a series of faith declarations that not only builds our faith personally in fearful times but confronts the demons of darkness attempting to take over our nation and stop the work of the Gospel. Coupled with our duty as both citizens and Christians to be involved in civic issues, we must also lead the way in prayer and prophetic utterance. If we don't pray and prophesy hope over our nation, who will? The saints of God must be involved!

Recent times have brought up a fair amount of controversy over the matter of Christians being involved in the civic and political arena. We certainly see extremes on both sides; however, the greater extreme over the past several decades has truly existed on the side of Christians feeling they should stay out of political affairs, at least for the most part.

Most Christians do not mind voting during an election cycle or attending a constituents' prayer breakfast when it's in their interests to do so. Yet fewer believers and pastors want to throw themselves into the culture war over the declining moral issues facing our country. They don't want to enter a playing field where they can put up barriers to the false narratives and the extreme woke and antichrist ideologies being imposed upon society. That battle involves a much higher sacrifice and the potential for backlash increases exponentially; thus, many people shy away. Some also shy away because they feel speaking up is equated with being unloving, and the world is always ready to use this accusation to pressure us into silence. Yet rather than approach this dilemma biblically, many believers take the easy road of going along with the bully demands of secular critics and end up doing nothing at all.

It's important, however, to understand that the Bible has plenty to say about God's people being involved in civic and cultural matters. We cannot employ the weak argument that our nation is simply an earthly establishment that will one day be dissolved and therefore our only attention should be on God's heavenly Kingdom, abating all necessity to be involved in national issues. That sounds ideal at first glance, except that we live in a world where both the spiritual and natural realms collide. Yes, we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but let's face it, flesh and blood will be used by the demonic forces we are fighting, and we will have to interact with people while simultaneously waging war in the heavenlies.

This fact is true politically and culturally, and we will be forced to be involved, naturally speaking, at some point whether we want to or not. Avoiding social issues in the name of prioritizing the spiritual realm fails in multiple ways. It's like the schoolteacher saying they won't insert themselves to break up a fight on the playground because the battle is spiritual. We must realize that the hot button topics spread across our newspapers and television screens will touch us all on a personal level eventually, and believers and churches must have their position on these topics clearly injected into the conversation.

Consider that most of the prophets and Old Testament figures inserted themselves on a political level, acting as the force of resistance against the conduct of countless wicked kings and leaders. One of the greatest examples is the prophet Elijah and his constant run of interference against the evil deeds of Ahab and Jezebel. Moses stood up in the face of the political figure Pharoah and demanded liberty for a people.

Then consider how Jesus was an intercept to the political system and its moral corruption. If He wasn't a thorn in the government's side, they wouldn't have wanted Him dead or accused Him of defying the supremacy of Caesar himself. John the Baptist also confronted Herod and the many evils he had done (see Luke 3:19-20). The early apostles, including the apostle Paul, regularly flew in the face of political leaders, defying their threats and mandates to shut down the liberty of the Gospel.

Today, our fight in the various civic arenas is to be a counter assault to the advancement of darkness. We involve ourselves in the voting process lest it be led down the path to total evil, handing the leadership of our nation over to the vilest of individuals. We speak up on bills and initiatives, otherwise the pleasures of evildoers will become the normal way of life. We stand up for moral righteousness in our schools, capitals, and businesses because we aren't willing to let society fall unchallenged into the hands of demonically inspired agendas. As pastors, we stand in our church pulpits speaking about moral and civic issues because these issues are addressed in the Bible, and we want God's Word to have a place in society. Therefore, we will gladly assume our responsibility to ensure it.

Paul prayed that the Word of the Lord would have the unhindered ability to spread rapidly (see 2 Thess. 3:1). Yet if we don't stand up to the spirit of antichrist dominating much of the public and political culture, the spreading of God's Word will be hindered. We know that if left undisputed, there are those who would love nothing more than to close our churches, shut down our voices on the air, and deem the Bible another vehicle of misinformation. If we separate ourselves from the political culture war, content to keep our ministry to a select church audience without including what's happening in society, then that is exactly what they will do. They will ensure we are permanently removed from interfering, just like has happened in many socialist countries. It's already being attempted here in the United States on multiple fronts and it's time to sound the alarm.

One might retort and say, "Well, yes, but God's Word has continued to spread even in communist nations where people are unable to declare truth before their government." My counter is, yes of course, God's Word will never be completely stopped from going forth! However, it's better when it's being spread in a liberated environment or Paul wouldn't have prayed what he did. The Bible says that after Paul was saved and no longer imprisoning and killing Christians, the churches had rest (see Acts 9:31). The Bible mentions this because there are times of rest needed, without the constant onslaught, for God's Word to be the most effectual. Undoubtedly, Paul recognized this fact, and perhaps it was clear to him as he remembered how he was once the attacker against God's Word and how difficult he made things for the Church.

God knows there is the need for His work and His Word to be able to go forth without extreme government control and censorship. This precious liberty has been the characteristic of the United States. America has been the paramount country that has spread the Gospel worldwide, and for this reason God raised it up as a beacon of light. This nation has done more work globally for the Gospel than any other country, and God will defend this nation because of it. Can we imagine the souls unreached had this country been under communist control for these last two centuries? It's been our nation's unmatched freedom that has made the way in these end times for God's Word to impact the world. God is looking for the involvement of His people right now to keep the door open so that the Gospel can continue moving forward through America.

Notably, our patriotic allegiance to this nation is not to replace or somehow be equalized with the Kingdom of God. Our patriotism is because we love America and what she has stood for and the liberty that allows us to preach God's Word freely and openly. We love this country because it offers life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness in a similar manner that Jesus expressed when He said, "I have come to give you life and life more abundantly" (see John 10:10).

We support and rally behind political figures who stand for our values, not because we idolize them. Instead, we appreciate that they are standing up against the evil that is trying to destroy everything this nation has offered as a conduit for the Gospel around the world. We know that the right leaders in office will be a hurdle in front of the onslaught of evil that utterly hates the God we serve.

My prayer is that Daily Decrees for Government and Nations will be a prayer tool in your hands because we desperately need intercessors who are praying for our country. But I also pray the words contained in these prayers and exhortations will ignite a fire within you. The words inscribed in this book are unfiltered, bold in nature, and designed to confront and expose the hidden evils coming against the United States. To the best of my ability, I have attempted to leave no key topic on the shelf, but rather bring it out in the open and address it with biblical truth in a statesmanlike manner. I pray this book will help you pray for America with confidence and cause a holy boldness against the demons of darkness to arise within you! I pray it gives you hope that we can each do something to enforce a divine change.

Perhaps you are reading this book and are from another country, believing and praying for a divine turnaround where you live. Please use these decrees and replace the mention of America with your own country! Through civic involvement along with our bold prophetic prayers and decrees, we shall surely see this nation and the nations of the earth become better, and God's power shall be witnessed in our land and around the world!

We the People

of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquillity, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do hereby declare and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

A NATION OF REVIVAL!

DECLARATION

We declare the United States of America shall experience revival! We speak that there shall be an awakening that shall blanket this land. We call upon the Lord of Heaven's Armies to turn the hearts of men away from evil and toward righteousness. We speak that there shall be a move of God that shall permeate society, our cities, and our governments. We declare the powers of evil are bound from their wicked agenda to promote moral decay, violence, and sin. We decree there shall be a return to the house of God, and families shall once again call upon the Name of the Lord. We say there shall be a revival of the Holy Spirit's power that shall bring deliverance, healing, and salvation! We decree that America is a nation of revival, and we declare America shall be saved! Amen!

SCRIPTURE

Revive us so we can call on your name once more.

Turn us again to yourself, O Lord God of Heaven's Armies. Make your face shine down upon us. Only then will we be saved (Psalm 80:18-19 NLT).

WORD OF ENCOURAGEMENT

Revival is a word used often in Christendom and is something that every true believer wants to see happen. We want to see masses of people saved and for backslidden believers to turn back to God. But to experience this, of course it begins with us personally. We first need to examine the areas of our own lives and be willing to make adjustments, so we aren't contributing to the larger problem happening on a mass scale. Are we living for God wholeheartedly? Are we attending church and walking righteously and so forth? Undoubtedly, believers who are passionately on fire for God will work to be part of the solution. They will influence others to walk in biblical righteousness because they walk that way. They will encourage others to be committed to church because they are committed. They will set the example of bringing the Gospel to a place of prominence in the public square.

The second important element for national revival is to have faith for it. We can't just throw up our hands at the evil all around and say, "What's the use? There's no hope!"

A Nation of Revival!

Our Scripture expresses a tone of expectancy for revival and a national awakening. It's a direct appeal to God that expresses faith for an answer. It even adds a warfare element to it through the mention of Heaven's armies being involved. In other words, the desire is for God to conduct spiritual warfare through His people so the enemy's plans will be interrupted and cause the nation to turn around. As we pray for revival, we must also decree as though it is going to undoubtedly happen! We need to envision a massive awakening regardless of the evidence of evil. We need to decree revival is here! Let's call our nation a nation of revival!

We the People

of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquillity, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do hereby constitute and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

CENSORSHIP OF THE GOSPEL INTERRUPTED

DECLARATION

We declare that the Word of God shall have the freedom in our society to be spoken and distributed without resistance, persecution, or censorship. We prophesy that the Word of the Lord and the Gospel shall not return void, but it shall accomplish everything it has been sent to do. We command all demonic operations that would rise to withstand the Word of God to be bound in the Name of Jesus! We speak a breaking apart of the forces that would censor, cancel, ban, and delete the truth, and we say they are rendered ineffective. We say that God's Word and the truth shall be promoted, shared, platformed, and it shall fill the airwaves! May the pulpits and people of this nation who are declaring and standing for truth be given their rightful place of prominence. We decree that all censoring and restriction against the truth shall be interrupted and halted in Jesus' Name!

SCRIPTURE

Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you (2 Thessalonians 3:1 KJV).

WORD OF ENCOURAGEMENT

If there is one thing that we have learned in recent times is that the voice of truth and God's Word has been censored and restricted online in a greater way than we had previously imagined. For the most part, citizens of the United States have enjoyed the liberty to worship freely, promote God's Word, and live openly as believers. Then it became clear along the way that certain groups were determined to ensure that our messages of truth, whether it be God's Word or truth regarding issues in society, were not going to be easily welcomed. Extensive measures were taken to prevent our messages from being shared. However, censorship of the Gospel and truth is nothing new. When Peter and John offered healing to the man at the Gate Beautiful, they were vehemently resisted and unjustly arrested for preaching the truth (see Acts 3–4). But the more governmental leaders attempted to silence them, the more bold and determined they became. Then we find through the rest of the Book of Acts that not only did the censorship against the early church fail, but the Word of God also grew mightily!

What we must remember in this current season of cancel culture, banning, and deleting is that truth will never be stopped no matter how hard some try. Like the early apostles, we need a greater boldness to keep using every means we have to spread the Gospel, speak the truth, and stand for what is right. We must also pray like the early church, who asked God to look upon their threats, clear the way for them through supernatural means, and grant them more boldness in their ability to take a stand (see Acts 4:29). When we call out to God, what they try to silence will be shouted on the housetops. What they have tried to censor shall be interrupted in Jesus' Name!

We the People

of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquillity, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do hereby declare and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

DELIVERED FROM WICKED AND EVIL PEOPLE

DECLARATION

We decree deliverance from every attack that would be attempted from violent, irrational, and unreasonable people. We say no assailant can succeed in any form of physical or verbal assault. We break the power of every attacker, raider, intruder, liar, accuser, persecutor, or evil antagonist in the Name of Jesus! We declare they cannot enact violence against us for our faith, our message, or our stand for truth. We prophesy that no weapon formed against us can prosper because the angels of the Lord stand watch to protect us from evil. We speak protection over our loved ones and our property. We plead the blood of Jesus upon our lives to save us in every situation and to prevent the workers of darkness from any scheme that would steal our peace. We prophesy deliverance, escape, and rescue by the hand of the Lord against every wicked snare. We say deliverance rests upon us, upon our families, our homes and communities, and we live in peace and safety in Jesus' Name!

SCRIPTURE

Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you: and that we may be delivered from unreasonable and wicked men: for all men have not faith (2 Thessalonians 3:1-2 KJV).

Deliver me, O Lord, from the evil man: preserve me from the violent man (Psalm 140:1 KJV).

WORD OF ENCOURAGEMENT

In the verses above, when Paul requested prayer to escape the attacks of violent and unreasonable people, we gain a clear understanding that there are those who will go to all lengths in order to attempt an attack on the Gospel. Notably, when Paul used the adjective “unreasonable” he was outlining the fact that there are people who are so irrational that there is nothing you can naturally do to mitigate their attacks. They are so full of demonic influence that it requires God’s supernatural hand to stop them. As the last days continue to escalate, we must use our faith and call upon God to intervene and keep us from the aggression of evildoers. We must know undoubtedly that God is able and willing to respond when we call upon His angelic forces. We have to build our assurance that God is our defense according to the Scripture that says, “The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me” (Heb. 13:6 KJV). Stand confidently today that God is faithful and will deliver you from those who are wicked and unreasonable!

We the People

of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquillity, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do hereby declare and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

DECLARATION OVER THE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

DECLARATION

We decree God's hand to rest upon our duly elected president who has been placed in office through fair and honest elections. We speak that the hand of the Lord shall lead and guide the president to make quality decisions in accordance with the Constitution of the United States. We prophesy that no fraud, deception, scheme, or plot can prevent the rightful president from holding office. We say that the president shall be one who follows biblical and moral values and stands for truth and integrity. We decree our president shall defend life, traditional marriage, and be a defender of the Church and the Gospel. We declare that no liar, deceiver, evildoer, traitor, or thief shall hold the office, in Jesus' Name. We prophesy that the president shall love and defend America, its citizens, and its interests around the globe. Our president shall defend and support Israel. We say that our president shall surround themselves with wise counsel, godly advisors, and trustworthy allies. We declare the president shall have favor with God and man, conducting foreign affairs with wisdom and prudence. The president shall be a peacemaker, but shall stand up against terrorism and invasions, both foreign and domestic. We call upon God to direct our president to undergird our men and women in uniform and maintain a strong and stable military. We decree the president of the United States of America shall benefit this land and work for the interests of the people in Jesus' Name, Amen!

Declaration over the Office of the President

SCRIPTURE

I exhort therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men; for kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty (1 Timothy 2:1-2 KJV).

WORD OF ENCOURAGEMENT

This declaration over the president truly speaks for itself, and many things even beyond this could be prayed for and declared over the highest office of the land. That said, it's easy for everyone to have their varying opinions of what a president should do, look like, and how they should behave. But the most important prayer we should pray is that our president will defend the biblical values that we as believers hold dear. While it's probably unrealistic to think that most presidents will be among the most committed of Christians, we can certainly expect that our president will uphold a basic moral code and standard that does not undermine the Christian heritage that our nation was founded upon. We can ask God to give us presidents who do not defy and interfere with the work of the Church nationwide and who value our country's godly foundation. When these basics are in order, the other necessary elements that surround the office will follow. Declare for God's person to be put in place so the sanctity of our nation will be maintained. When we do so, the Bible reminds us it will lead to a quiet and peaceable life!

It's time for kids to decree God's Word over their lives!

Jesus said, "Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these." – Matthew 19:14

Children don't have a junior Holy Spirit, nor are they secondary members of the Kingdom of God. They, too, have been given the right to be called Kings and Priests and their prayers and words carry authority in the spiritual realm.

Brenda Kunneman is a bestselling author and dynamic prophetic voice who has equipped believers around the world to boldly decree Heaven's victory over every area of their lives. Now she is equipping children with powerful, Bible-based, prophetic decrees that they can read and declare themselves!

These decrees are specifically designed to train children to operate in their heavenly authority, empowering them to engage the Kingdom that Jesus declared belongs to them!

As kids begin to boldly speak God's word, the same Spirit that raised Jesus from the dead releases heavenly power to see Kingdom decrees carried out! It's time for kids to decree God's Word over their lives!
